

Art and Nature Camp

Schedule:

Saturday, January 21st:

After introductions, we read through the story we'll be illustrating: "Kawika Hikes in the Mountains," by Sara Marie Riley.

We then take an exploratory hike through Makiki valley to collect references for the plants, animals, and scenes. Returning, we will then spend some time learning about the different artistic media we can use!

Saturday, January 28th:

Together, we brainstorm our main characters' appearance and assign sections that we will be illustrating. Using reference, and collecting more if needed, we get started on our first draft sketches and experiment with the different media. We finish the day by re-gathering and sharing our drafts for friendly critique, then cool off in Makiki stream!

Saturday, February 4th:

With our first draft done, we spend our final day working from it to create our finished illustrations. Campers will complete the day with art that will be scanned and featured online in the book's digital format. We also take pictures to credit our campers in the book's afterward.
